PROM MOST BRILLIANT OF JUNIOR WEEK EVENTS

Junior Play Rollicking Comedy

CUSTOM SETTINGS WILL BE PLAY FEATURE

Comedy Deals With Troubles of Teaching Girls How to Charm Without Falling Victim.

TICKETS NOW ON SALE.

The Junior Play, "The Charm School," will be presented in the Auditorium of the New Masonic Temple, Thirteenth and New York Avenue N.W., on Monday evening, February 26. The curtain will rise at 8:15 p. m.

The play is now well along. The rehearsals have been taking place regularly and under the supervision of William S. Becker, with the assistance of Leonard Hall, the cast has rounded into shape. The play is a clever comedy and is replete with laughs.

The settings have been arranged for by Henry James and Bill Becker, being especially constructed for this performance. The house will offer a very good place to hold the performance, and the details for an effective presentation have been well cared for.

The play is a dramatization of the Saturday Evening Post's story "The Charm School," by Alice Duer Miller. The story centers around five rather idealistic, but highly impecunious, young men, one of whom comes into his fortune in the shape of the inheritance of a girl's school. Much against his companions' wishes and the evinced desires of the financial backer of the institution, he starts in to manage and direct.

One of the conditions on which he has taken the school over is that he not allow any of the pupils to fall in love with him. His efforts to keep them from hanging on his neck give him a hectic time. One of the young ladies, however, has ideas of her own. Being a woman and having these ideas, she attempts to put them into effect. She does. The hero loses his school, one of her lovers gets the gate, and she marries the good-looking wretch. All of which, as Len Hall would say, is hot coffee.

Tickets are on sale for the play. Henry James, chairman of the committee, announced yesterday that his committee, Janeiro Brooks, Therese Lawrence, and Mildred Von Elff, are handling the disposal. Tickets are $1.75 cents, and 50 cents.

The probable cast, as announced by Director William S. Becker, is as follows:

Austin Bevens.....	John R. Dewitt
David Mackenzie.....	G. W. Pryor
George Boyd.....	J. Foster Hagan
Jim Simpkins.....	M. R. Malone
Tim Simpkins.....	R. C. Weber
Homer Johns.....	Kenneth Bruner
Elsie Benedotti.....	Geraldine Barlow
Miss Hays.....	Esther Scott

CONVOCATION WILL BE HELD AT MEMORIAL HALL

Alexander Wendell, Consular Agent, Will Receive Honorary Degree; Beautiful Service Expected.

The annual Midwinter Convocation of the University will be held in the Memorial Continental Hall, on Thursday afternoon, February 22nd. The exercises will start with the entrance of the academic procession at three p. m. A short musical program will precede the opening.

John Garland Pollard, head of the Department of Political Science at William and Mary College, an alumnus of George Washington, and recipient of an honorary degree of LL. D. at the Centennial Convocation, 1921, will address the graduates. The Rev. Lucius Clarke, D. D., chancellor of the American University, will deliver the invocation.

The honorary degree of LL. B. will be conferred upon Alexander W. Wendell, ex-'08, who is now American Consul in Calcutta, India. Mr. Wendell studied at the University 1904-07, at which time he left to accept appointment to the consular service. He was stationed at the consulate in Zanzibar, East Africa, in 1910, and in 1912 transferred to that of Catania, Italy. He studied at the University of Catania during his term in Italy.

Fifty-Eight Degrees Conferred

Fifty-eight degrees will be conferred at the convocation. Elmer Louis Kayser, secretary of the University, has

FRATS THROW SUNDAY TEA

The Junior Reception and the Rotating Tea are two of the big events in Junior Week this year. Convocation is set for three o'clock Thursday, Washington's Birthday, at Memorial Continental Hall. Immediately after this ceremony is over and all the graduates have received their sheepskins, the Junior Reception takes place in the ballroom of the Raleigh Hotel, from five until eight o'clock. The Deans and their wives are patrons and patronesses of this event.

The ballroom will be appropriately decorated for the occasion, and music for dancing furnished by Meyer Davis' five-piece orchestra.

The Rotating Tea is something new among our Junior Week events, this being the first year there has been such a feature. The idea is to give everyone a chance to get acquainted. The tea should be a success. The Interfraternity Association of George Washington University is sponsor and host for the affair, which takes place next Sunday afternoon, February 25th, starting at 2 o'clock and lasting until 7.

Each of the nine national fraternities will be visited in the following order: Sigma Chi, 1312 N St.; Sigma Nu, 1733 N St.; Kappa Sigma, 1758 N St.; Kappa Alpha, 1750 Massachusetts Ave.; Delta Tau Delta, 1916 Sixteenth St.; Sigma Phi Epsilon, 1810 Connecticut Ave.; Phi Sigma Kappa, 1603 Massachusetts Ave.; Theta Delta Chi, 1842 Calvert St.; Sigma Alpha Epsilon, 3320 Sixteenth St.

Each fraternity is to be host for one hour, though only a half hour will be spent at each house. So, there will always be two hosts, one going on with the visitors to the next house. At each fraternity some refreshments will be served as a part of a progressive menu. Through these calls, an opportunity is presented to meet a large number of the students of the University and to see what the various fraternities are like.

NOTICE FOR FRESHMEN.

The Pan Hellenic Association has decreed that between 9 a. m. Thursday, February 22 and 9 a. m. Friday, February 23, there shall be no communication between members of sororities and girls who are not members. Penalties for the organizations whose members violate this ruling will be inflicted by the Pan Hellenic Association.

Le Paradis Drum Corps Will Join Famous Nine

UNIQUE FAVORS WILL ADD TO GAIETY OF OCCASION.

TICKET SALE LIMITED

The Junior Prom, the most elaborate of the school year social events, will be held in the ballroom of the New City Club, 1320 G Street, on the evening of Friday, February 23rd. Beginning at 10 p. m.

Precisely at the hour, the musicians belonging to Meyer Davis' "Famous Nine" will open up on a wild jazz tune, and from that time until two of the next morning things, as well as feet, will move along skippily. The orchestra will be augmented about one a. m. with several of the men from the Cafe Le Paradis drum corps, and what with the whole assemblage, the dance will end up as brilliantly as it began.

The Prom Committee, Earle Manson directing, have secured what they call "unique dance orders," as well as trick favors for all participants. These favors will be of leather, stamped with the University seal, card cases for the men and fob-dogs, or powder horns, for the ladies. This is a new feature for the Promenade. Heretofore food and fripperies of the decorative sort have consumed the extra cash; but this year the committee has invested in tokens that are both decorative and useful, as well as articles to remind those attending of the rare time and all that.

President Howard Lincoln Hodgkins heads the list of patrons for the Prom. The list includes: President and Mrs. Howard L. Hodgkins; Elmer Louis Kayser, Secretary of the University, and Mrs. Kayser; George Neely Henning, Dean of the School of Graduate Studies, and Miss Henning; William A. Wilbur, Dean of Columbian College, and Mrs. Wilbur; William Carl Ruediger, Dean of the Teachers College, and Mrs. Rudiger; William Cline Borden, Dean of the Medical School, and Mrs. Borden; Merton Leroy Ferson, Dean of the Law School, and Mrs. Ferson; Hugh Miller, Dean of the College of Engineering; Henry E. Kalusowski, Dean of the College of Pharmacy; Anna L. Rose, Dean of Women; Professor and Mrs. De Witt Clinton Croissant; Professor and Mrs. Robert Russ Kern; Professor and Mrs. Henry Grattan Doyle; Professor and Mrs. Robert Whitney Bolwell; and Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Morse.

The number of tickets on sale for the Prom is limited. All those who purchase tickets in advance are assured of favors and programs in case of a stampede, as happened at the Prom in 1921. Tickets may be obtained at the Treasurer's office, 2033 G Street, or from the offices of the secretaries of the Law School or the Medical School. The undergraduate ticket sellers number: Edwin S. Bettleheim, director of sales; Earle Manson, J. Fuller Spoerri, Francis Brown, Maxine Rolle, Myrtle Yost, Edward Pardoe, William Ballenger, Arthur Rosenlund, Adelaide Makens, Edward St. John, Edward Loop, Beatrice Clephane, Mary Brown, Milton Sillers, Eugene S. Thomas, Robert Armstrong, Chas. Jones, Leslie French, and Lydia Shephard.

Holders of Prom tickets will be admitted free to the St. Johns-Annapolis game Tuesday night.

CANDIDATES FOR TENNIS MEET WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Coach Hugh Miller has issued a call for all candidates for tennis team to meet in Room 1, Lisner Hall, next Wednesday evening, February 28, at 7 o'clock.

PROM TICKETS ADMIT TO ST. JOHN'S GAME

Annapolis Basketball Team To Meet Buff and Blue in Coliseum Tonight.

Holders of tickets to the Junior Prom will be admitted without extra charge to the St. Johns-George Washington basketball game in the Central Coliseum tonight, beginning at 8 p. m. The Buff and Blue squad have just returned from their trip through Virginia, and may be expected to put on a good game against the Marylanders. Nothing much is known of St. John's prowess, except that the team is rated well. The game should be an interesting one.

Coach Morse will start—Forwards: Klopech and Beeton; guards: Goldstein and Hyde; and center: Brown. The Central Coliseum is at Ninth and Pennsylvania Avenue, on the northwest section of the Market Building. The games are played on the second floor. All that is necessary to gain admittance is to display one's Prom ticket and it will be honored for admission.

THIS SPECIAL EDITION OF THE HATCHET, EDITED UNDER THE DIRECTION OF J. FOSTER HAGAN, WITH THE ASSISTANCE OF MARIAN BARKER, ROBERT HOWARD, ROBERT McNEIL, MARY RUFF, AND SARA FRENCH SMITH.

The Optimist and Us

We were quite optimistic when we started to write this editorial. We had planned, with the help of Mr. Arnold's cartoon, to preach a sermon and point a moral. We were going to try to convince the students of their luck in being able to attend the Prom without having to unshackle chains or creep through bars.

But then we considered. Nobody reads editorials, except maybe someone who wishes to pick the articles to pieces or to while away an hour in class. That being the case, we saw how foolish it would be to con the dictionary and hammer out an effort in our best Rhetoric.

Still we must write an editorial. Our admission to the Prom depends upon it, partly. We are being given a free ticket for editing this issue, and we must make a good job of it or the ticket won't be ours. Being determined and imbued with Coue, we shall try.

Let us take for our first consideration the question of finances. The Prom costs five dollars. Now, five dollars will buy forty loaves of bread, or ten pounds of steak, or a dozen dozen eggs, all of which have a higher caloric value than does a ticket. Yet our spirits

THE OPTIMIST.

"IF I COULD GET DIS ANCHOR OFF ME LEG, AN' SHIFT DESE STRIPES FOR A TUX, I COULD GO TO DE JUNIOR PROM DIS EVENIN', IF I COULD GET OUTA DIS COOLER."

need rejuvenation and our minds refreshment, which the Prom will supply, and our hearts need the assuaging that only a Prom partner can give. Besides, our memory will be stored with beautiful sights and happy incidents that the sizzling steak or scrambled eggs could never furnish. Best of all, we can forget our sorry-looking yellow-purplish flunk cards.

Then there's the question of supporting the school, but, of course, everyone is keen to support the school.

We could go on so for hours, but we hate to repeat what so many others have said. We must be original. Our suggestion is that the readers of the Hatchet clip out the picture in this column, and paste it on their mirrors; that they give it a due and reverent consideration every a. m. and every p. m.; and that they mutter a fervent prayer that they may have money enough to go to the Prom, or that George, who has a date with Sally dear, may break his leg in several places.

That's the suggestion, and we hope you like it as much as we do. We are going to practice it regularly, only our prayer will be that the Prom Committee won't forget us when the tickets begin to fly.

And that's being optimistic!

-J. F. H.

Stupid Steve's Kolum

W I tuck over this kolum this week. Who are we? Try and find out. We have been approached by numerous publicity agents of different organizations who want to keep out of print. The first delegation received was Kappa Sigma, headed by Jack Daly, the "big boss." They wanted us to refrain from referring to Kappa Sigma as notorious drunks. We agreed because that's no news to anybody. Next delegation was Chi O. We won't say anything about Chi O in our kolum because nothing you could say about a Chi O would hurt 'em anyway. So we won't say nothing about how they tried to kick Bill Becker out of the dramatic club. Bill resigned from said club. Picked up marbles and left.

And the Sigma Chi's, "the gang with the Maltese Cross." They need publicity. Haven't had any since Gene Underwood left. Their delegation was told that they would get it. They have a new fraternity song entitled: "We are out of politics" (by request). We also received numerous other delegations, too numerous to tell about or that don't rate mention—but Oh, dear me! there's the Pi Phi's. We were about to overlook them! Of course they crave publicity and scandal is only a good advertisement for 'em. But we promise the other jealous sisters, including the locals and Daisy Robison, that they won't get more space than they rate. So when you see an arrow think of self-conceit.

We don't intend to devote all our kolum to frats since there are plenty of dumb-bells not in 'em. Next week we are going to print a list of all aspiring youth who are trying to get into frats. If you don't want your name run, leave ten bucks in cold coin for Stupid Steve, care the Hatchet.

Foppical Digest.

Bernard Burdick, illustrious politician, says that the editor of "Footprints" seems to have an apparently inexhaustible supply of nonentities to draw upon. Burdick hasn't been printed yet.

Some dumb-bell said he didn't see where we got the Steve part.

Wonder does Spoerri still maintain his studio?

Foster has a new love.

"Yes, but where leaves the Rose of Yesterday?"

The contest for would be Shiek of the Campus is still on with Bernie Viena, Dick McPherson, Red Wallace, and others still running. Manson is out of the race.

Answers to Korrespondents.

(Editor's note.—Stupid Stephen, who is a noted authority on all matters relating to love affairs, religion, health, society, etiquette, politics, etc., will answer personally all inquiries sent to him in care of the Hatchet. Matters of general interest will be printed, the sender's name not being revealed. Always enclose stamps—the more the better.)

Dear Stupid Steve:
I am a freshman at the University and have been going with a Junior girl. Her sorority is giving a dance sometime during Junior Week. I don't know what to do. I am frantic. Should I ask her to take her to the dance, should I wait for her to ask me, or wait until some other fellow asks her before I do and let her think that I am slow. Please reply at once!
Yours anxiously,

I. M. Green.
Dear I. M.:
First find out in some underhand way whether or not she already has a date. If she has, that settles it. If not, write me again.

Stupid Steve.
P. S.—What sorority is it? Perhaps I can assuage your anguish by telling you that you were lucky to escape.
Steve.

Dear Mr. Stephen:
I am a young lady, twenty years of age, and attractive (photograph enclosed). We have a detached house on Massachusetts Avenue, west of Du-point Circle. I have a Hudson Speedster, which I drive. My people have only recently come to the city. I just entered the Junior Class this semester and don't know anybody yet. I have heard of this Junior Prom. Do you know of some nice young man you could get to take me. I have the ticket and can furnish a quart of father's pre-war stock. I will also pay the bill at Childs' after the dance. Do you think you can help me out of my difficulty?

Sincerely,

Gwendolyn X.
My Dear Gwendolyn X.:
I posted your picture up on the Hatchet bulletin board Monday with a notice. So far I have received 847 applications, including some from married professors. After considering them all carefully, I have broken my own date and will take you myself.
Sincerely,

Stupid Steven.
Dear Stupid Steven:
I am one of the Co-eds in Columbian College, but somehow I am not popular. I have a fairly good line and not a bad figure, and am rated as a keen dancer. I have often thought that my difficulty was on account of the conservative way I dress. Someway I always pose as a wall-flower at the college mixers, etc. Please advise me.
Very truly,

Agnes.
My dear Agnes:
See a good dressmaker at once. One should leave no legitimate means unused for making oneself more attractive. Also when the boys see more of you, you will probably be more popular.
Very truly,

Stupid Stephen.
Dear Mr. Steven:
I am a freshman, rather a nonentity, but politically ambitious. I desire to be class president next year, but don't know how to go about it. I am resourceful and will stop at nothing short of murder. Can you help me?

Hopefully,

Penrose Smith.
Dear Penrose:
See Bob Colfish.
Very truly yours,
Stupid Stephen.

ANNUAL H. S. BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT THIS WEEK

Games Played At Central Coliseum Thursday, Friday, and Saturday; Champion Teams Compete.

The Third Annual South Atlantic Interscholastic Basketball Tournament held under the auspices of the Department of Student Activities of George Washington University, will be held in the Central Coliseum Thursday, Friday, and Saturday of this week, February 22, 23, and 24.

Representative teams of Virginia, Maryland, and the District of Columbia will compete. The schedule includes the champions of Washington, Baltimore, Lonaconing, Md., and of the northern part of Virginia.

The first game will be played on Thursday at noon, and will be followed by five other games throughout the afternoon, each an hour apart. Those teams making the grade the first day will play an elimination series Friday, and the winners of these games will meet Saturday afternoon. The games will be held on Friday at 3 and 4 p. m., and on Saturday the championship game at 3:30 p. m.

The list of entrants includes: Western and Eastern High Schools, champions of the District; Episcopal High School of Alexandria, champion of Virginia; Loyola, Baltimore City College, and St. Joseph's, of Baltimore, champions of that city; Central High School of Lonaconing, Md., and the teams of Georgetown Prep, Gonzaga, and Central High School of this city.

SNOOPS AROUND TO GET THE DIRT ON THE JUNIOR PROM

Junior Prom! Friday Night! Big Date!

Francis and Abby will be right there when the promenade starts. Abby is going to wear a red velvet dress, trimmed with silver lace.

Earle Manson will be there with a beautiful girl.

All the sorority pledges will be there sporting their colors.

Bo Turner says that every girl he takes out always announces her engagement to someone else shortly afterwards, so now we can expect Martha Waring's. Hows to slip us the low down, Martha?

Of course, Ballee and Boots will come.

Everybody look at Georgia McCauley's fellow. This couple will be a knockout.

Maxine Rolle may come to the party with Ronald.

Paul Reed is bringing Dorothy Hadcox. She will wear a blue gown trimmed with fur.

Frances De Grange and Louis Seibold will be there.

Foster Hagan is taking Marian Barker. Take a look at her fraternity pins if you get a chance.

Which of his girls will Edwin Pohl favor?

Everybody watch Gladys Fuller "sake."

Bess Farris will come with Gordon Edmonds. You may cut after a reasonable time, though.

Nell Anderson and Sam Spruce will be there smiling as usual. (Sort of a "Smiling Through" arrangement, might we observe?)

Catherine Tonge will likely come with George Bowen. Likely—

Marguerite Daly will favor a Georgetown man. Shall we let him in?

Wonder if Mr. and Mrs. J. Fuller Spoorri are too much occupied with domestic affairs to come to the Prom?

"Sunshine" Harris and Beau Brummel Dick McPherson will be in the crowd. Try and keep them apart!

Maxine Girls will be at the Prom, of course; we hope with Radford Brown.

Don Little may not have asked Virginia Merritt yet, but he will eventually.

The party wouldn't be complete without John Paul Earnest and Peggy Trigg.

Hope Waldo Clarke and Gretchen Campbell are there.

Tommy Lodge is having a hard time deciding which girl to take.

Wonder in what kind of a head-dress Dave Strother's girl will appear.

Expect to see Winifred DeVoe in an airy new model of her own design.

Cornelia Clarke is home, so Larry Houck has no reason for staying away.

Russ Mason must know how deeply the school feels for him, but the good-looking twin couldn't help getting his face scarred.

Arthur Rosenlund must break his thrifty policy to buy a ticket in order to take Jean Stophlet.

The Sigma Nu Chapter should appoint a committee to take Betty Bradford. It's always best to avoid hard feelings.

charge of the seating arrangements, with the assistance of Professors Swett, Hornaday, and Bolwell.

Mr. Kayser has issued the following regulations to these attending Convocation: The Convocation will be held on Thursday afternoon, February 22nd, at three o'clock, in Memorial Continental Hall, Seventeenth and D Sts. Doors will be opened at 2 o'clock, and reserved seats will be held until the entrance of the academic procession, at 3 o'clock sharp. Ticket holders are asked to arrive early, in order to facilitate seating.

Invitations and Tickets: Invitations and tickets may be obtained to the number desired by members of the graduating classes—in the case of Arts and Science students, from the Registrar, and in the case of Law Students from the Secretary of the Law School, after February 15. Tickets will be required only for entrance to the reserved seats in the body of the hall. The balcony will be open to the public.

Academic Procession: Members of the Board of Trustees, the University Council, the Faculties, and the February Graduating Classes are expected to appear in the academic procession, which will form in the basement at 2:30 o'clock.

Caps and Gowns: Caps and gowns will be provided for students graduating, and will be available after 2 o'clock.

Flowers and Gifts: No flowers or gifts of any sort can be received for the graduates at the Auditorium.

He Reached the Top

THE Vice-President of a great life insurance company who began his career as an agent has this to say to seniors who are about to graduate from college:

"If you love work and desire to pursue an honorable, useful and lucrative mission in life this is the business for you to take up. Life insurance salesmanship offers a fine field for the energies of the splendid young men in our colleges.

"That this is true is demonstrated by those college men who have taken up life insurance for they have shown that the college man is fit for this kind of a job and that the job also is fit for the college man.

"The work of the life insurance salesman is distinguished by independence and opportunity for directing his own. It gives all possible opportunity for individual initiative and a chance to make an ample income at an age when most fellows are struggling on a wage pittance."

That is the story of one who began at the bottom and reached the top without the help of a college education. The advantages are with you who graduate from college. Before deciding your career make inquiries of the "Agency Department."

"I've taken my fun where I've found it—"
Bill Becker: Those whom he hates, he hates deeply, and those whom he loves—Ah, well!
Bill is directing the "Charm School." Also he is acting as trainer for clumsy men, and as a corrective for the inflated ideas of Mamma's Darlings. He pleads and he cajoles, and he begs, and he—Ah, well!
Bill is a living refutation of the argument that because a man is, er, portly, he is always, always jovial. Bill isn't. He tries to be, but his companions and subordinates sometimes, sometimes rile him. Generally, though, his smile is present, and you can see the horn rims reflecting his mirth.
He has worked on the Hatchet for two years and on the defunct Ghost, besides attending classes and corraling credits. His career, as shown below, is diverse, if nothing else:
WILLIAM S. BECKER
Born in Steubenville, Ohio, and saw his first show five years later—Keller, the magician. Educated in Steubenville, University of Michigan, School of Hard Knocks, and George Washington.
Has worked in steel mills, on milk wagons, in department stores, and at theaters since first able to wind a phonograph and pilot people to their seats.
Likes pretty girls, sleep, Will Rogers, Winnie Lightner, musical comedies, and the plays of Molnar.
Hates Schubert vaudeville, all kinds of vaudeville, Washington police, the Republican Party, flattery, and discipline.

Wonder how Annette Steel and John Ladd will act at the Prom now that they are engaged.

RAZZ BERRY APPEARS AT GRADUATION STUNT

Supreme Satirical Sheet To Break Long Silence On Twenty-Second; "Sale Number Limited."
Chief among the surprises promised the languid students of our famous institution for Junior Week is the issuance of the famous and only "Supreme Satirical Sheet," The Razz Berry.
Precisely at two p. m. on the afternoon of Thursday, February 22nd, copies of this nonpareil sheet will go on sale. The newsboys, crying their wares, will tramp up and down Seventeenth Street before the hall of the Daughters of the American Revolution. It is fitting that The Razz Berry should make its appearance in such surroundings. Very! For when those unfortunate students, friends, and faculty have perused his blood-red sheets George Washington will again lead in revolution.
Blazoned across his front, The Razz Berry will carry his famous motto: "Honi soit qui mal e pense." Beneath, in the staid columns of Mr. Everett's linotype, will appear ghastly revelations of conditions as they exist at the University, together with jibes and taunts and quips and all that sort of thing.
Howard Martin reports that he has chilblains. This, it would seem, is false; for his health is perfect and his constitution is remarkable. The reporter for the Hatchet who has dogged his footsteps for the past three weeks reports that he is afflicted with the old malady of frozen feet, and will not even venture forth to hear her dulcet voice or catch her tremulous lip as she seeks to ask him questions.
It is the understanding that Mr. Martin is sorry that he accepted the job of editor. Each of his assistants has some few he wishes to razz, and Mr. Martin is having hard work in avoiding law suits, duplications, and libel. He has said, however, that only his preeminent characteristic of "concentration" has kept him on the trail of the paper. He likes lilacs of the valley and Haig & Haig roses.
The Razz Berry will be on sale as follows: Thursday, the 22nd, at the Convocation (outside), and at the Junior Reception; Friday, at the University; and Saturday morning, at the University.

"I never thought before my death To see youth's vision thus made perfect."

And that's Len Hall!
He came up to the U a week or so ago to help out with the rehearsals of this "Charm School" thing, and five minutes after he got here every girl within peaking distance had fallen in love with him. "Who is that good-looking man? Isn't he cute? Isn't he a dream?"
Len's the boy who is giving Ruddy Valentino all his opposition here in Washington. And that's not a hard thing for him to do. He's one of those slim, not-too-tall-not-too-short, dark-haired, dreamy-eyed personages who can conquer a flapper's maddest desires with a flip of his eyebrow or the twist of his artist's wrist.
He has all the campus sheiks backed off the map. Those big, dark eyes, with his graceful poise and his calm self-possession, make all these curly-haired attenuations shrink for cover. He handles a cigarette as though it were a DaVinci or a hypodermic, and he gets away with it.

LEONARD HALL
Born in Cleveland, Ohio, 1896, in May, and attended first theater the following fall—Powers' Hippodrome Elephants.
Educated in Cleveland, went to war in 1917, and came back an old man in 1919. Newspaper bureau manager of United Press at Des Moines, Iowa, and St. Louis, Mo.; Dramatic editor and Columnist, the Des Moines News and Washington News.
Likes beer, revues, Boddy Clarke, the plays of Eugene O'Neill, and Avery Hopwood.
Hates work, mystery plays, laws, and Olga Petrova.
